I am writing this letter to recommend Abdelrahman Gomaa for the position of software engineer. Abdelrahman was a junior software engineer intern at my computing business for about 5 months, and his skills and knowledge were brilliant. Along with that, however, he helped us in many various tasks with good results that made him a good intern and important to our company. During the time we worked together, I have seen how dedicated he is towards his work and how skillfully he overcomes complex challenges that are essential to being a software engineer.

As a software developer Abdelrahman, he created codes for computer software, debugging codes, and created features for applications using various technologies. He proved his ability to deal with tasks that require technologies that he never worked with providing brilliant results. Abdelrahman has worked really hard in keeping up with our reputation as leading developers. He is a disciplined and talented intern who has proved himself dependable as well.

I strongly recommend Abdelrahman for the position of software engineer. Having a person like Abdelrahman in one's team is an asset and I am positive that you will also find him to be a precious addition to any company.

Sincerely,
